

Abdelkader LATRECHE

Dr Abdelkader LATRECHE is a sociologist and demographer. He received his PhD in 1990 in Paris 1 University. His focus was on the International Migration of El Maghreb students. His international experience covers teaching with Paris 8 University, Research with different French institutions and European University Institute. He contributes to different international agencies such as UNESCO, ESCWA, UNDP, Arab League states on international migration in Arab States, youth in Arab region and the labor market. Since 2006, he is a member of the advisory board of Applied Social Sciences Forum in Tunisia. Since 2017 he is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Arab Council for the Social Sciences. He is currently based in Qatar. His publication covers international migration in Arab countries. Other publications are under preparation.